Everything Of Theory

Chez As Sabur returns with two new books and a play-reading spawned from his book, 'Everything of Theory'

Chez As Sabur has embarked on a mission to record the Akasha in a series of 35 books.

He launches the first and the last books of the Akashics Project through a play-reading which reveals the hidden allegory of the outside world illusion.

Staying Sane In An Insane World

We are delighted to introduce David Adelman who will present an A to Z of a sick society and how to heal ourselves

David Adelman is an author, teacher and speaker whose main aim is to wake up those who are asleep or give clarity and fresh angles to those already aware of the bigger picture.

David sees his role as filling in some of the gaps left by other free thinkers who tell you that we are being lied to but who may forget to tell you how the lies actually work.

The education system in particular will take quite a battering in keeping with the title of his first book 'School - No Place For Children' (available on Amazon).

The talk will be a roller-coaster ride through some of the most "dangerous" lies and untruths, turning them on their heads and giving clues on how to be true to ourselves and stay sound in an increasingly unsound world.
